NOVATO, Calif., July 24, 2009 /PRNewswire via COMTEX/ -- Respected money manager and award winning author Kenneth G. Winans has joined the Board of Trustees of the Museum of American Finance in New York City (www.moaf.org). The fourteen-member board includes notable investment professionals such as Wilbur Ross, Dr. Martin Zweig, and founder, John Herzog.

Winans states, "This museum is the nation's only public museum dedicated to finance, entrepreneurship and the free open market system. As president of an investment firm, I feel an obligation to support our industry's effort to educate the public about the history of investing, and the important role it plays in all of our daily lives. My hope is that the museum's exhibits and education programs will eventually come to the San Francisco Bay Area." Ken is no stranger to supporting museums and science centers. In 2004, he and his wife Debbie Wreyford founded The W Foundation www.thewfoundation.org and have donated their extensive collection of space exploration artifacts to this 501c3 organization. Many of these artifacts have been on display for many years at the Chabot Space & Science Center and The USS Hornet Museum. In January 2008, Winans loaned many items from his personal collection of antique financial documents to the Museum of American Finance of New York.

Interestingly, Mr. Winans is a direct descendant of Dr. Gustav Eisen, the legendary collector of the 1800's, whose exhibits can still be seen at the California Academy of Sciences in San Francisco, CA and the Phoebe A. Hearst Museum of Anthropology in Berkeley, CA.
